For this every media (television, computer) to children of one parent, first of all, make the most of the internet chat, forum, Facebook, Twitter it is necessary that Holda, as they know, also teach her children. Above cited media

They described this enabling and operating their own activities, information are gaining, gaining knowledge, experience is being exchanged, like trading they are launching commercial, advertising work. This is definitely clear in every area in sight. On the one hand, it gives the opportunity to get distance education and if he develops intellectual, creative abilities, on the second hand . We also see Real communication becoming a virtual form can. Now parents are not more faced with their children, but keeps in virtual contact and controls them. This is definitely the current informational if we look at it as certain manifestations of society, then it is social well-being, social harmony in the formation of a perfect human personality, while serving in upbringing, the virtual culture of the members of society is also it was necessary to develop and improve. But unfortunately the media some problems are also visible when using their tools.

Today, sheva and jargon are a mixture of words, Uzbek literary such situations that are both sad and funny, far from their language indicates a decrease in general literacy. Such, which is associated with a cell phone, which is found in life problems can be continued further. National and religious tradition-internet sites that prepare and distribute information contrary to our habits when setting aside its organizers, it is these problems that arise even parents who are unable to control while creating conditionslet's assume it's a very big mistake.
